Communication with Reason.

One day a young man was walking around a field surrounded by a forest. This person did not live in the city, but in the countryside. So the forest was visible from the window of the house. Walked in the evening, in the winter, it was cold and dark outside. Suddenly he felt a light, a strange light, he did not blind his eyes but illuminated everything around. Light came from a misty cloud. After that, a beautiful girl appeared from this cloud, about seventy centimeters tall. She was normal but her face had perfect proportions, eyes, lips, nose, chin, as an artificially created perfect sevenfold, without any pronounced facial features. This girl had an ideal proportions of the body. The hip circumference was twice the circumference of the shin, the waist circumference was approximately equal to the circumference of the thigh, and the circumference of the head is approximated as the hip circumference. The shoulders had a pelvic width, a high-set, rounded chest. This girl looked perfect and proportionate. She suggested that the young man follow her. The young man did not feel danger, on the contrary he was surprised by what he saw, and his Reason absorbed curiosity. He followed the girl into the fog, then found himself in a strange room. The room was a room, five by three meters, white, without corners, faces, everything was rounded. It was not clear where the light comes from, since there were no shadows, and there was no visible source of light. On the edges of the room there were sofas, white, rounded, in the center there was an oval table, without faces, the edges of the table were rounded, and it hung in the air, there were no legs, they also had no legs with sofas, they came out of the walls. When a young man found himself in this room, he immediately felt that he did not feel warm or cold, did not feel his body. He knew what was on his feet, but it seemed to him that his body lost weight. Inside there were two more girls, externally very similar, but had differences. Different colors of the eyes, hair, and overalls that ideally flow around their bodies. Overalls had a different color, which emphasized their shape. After the young man was offered to sit down. He sat down on the sofa, which he found very comfortable. One of the girls with golden hair told him that they are from another galaxy, and got here by accident. But they knew about the existence of the Earth and about what is on earth. They knew everything about the structure of the Earth, its inhabitants and features. They called our galaxy the edge of the universe, and the fact that there is nothing interesting for them in it. They were like tourists who decided to look into an unpromising area, in which there are no sights. For their civilization, our universe did not matter, has long been studied, and it is monitored with the help of autonomous systems. Our planet Earth has nothing special, basically all the planets are very similar, have no greater difference. And life on the planets is almost the same. And reasonable beings like that, without strong differences. It is they who, many years ago, created the earth and life on it, they are engaged in the fact that they populate the planets with life similar to our ecosystem. In the universe, there are also other planets with different from ours, and other forms of life. They call themselves Arians, differ from people in that their bodies are very strong, and do not require consumption, and habitat. They are not afraid of stars, black and white holes. There is nothing in the universe to destroy them, except for other Intelligent beings, from their legends, these beings are just like them, but there are only two of them, man and woman, they are the perfect creatures of the creators of the World. The world is a void in which there are bubbles of space, universes. According to them, nine universes are now formed. Our universe is the ninth. Girls can travel the universe without obstacles, with great speed, in an instant they are shown from the one end of the universe to the opposite, but they can not go beyond the bounds of space, since the physical body does not cross this barrier, in the void there can not exist a physical body. In the emptiness can only be the information form of life, and they know about its existence and call it the Creators. These non-physical forms of life can easily move around the universe, and live in emptiness. That those two individuals of the ideal being can also move through the void, transferring their physical body to the information body, and then again translating it into the physical. This became possible because the Creators created them bodies from the most durable substance in the World, they call it Absolute. Also there is another form of life in the form of balls in the size of nine centimeters, this form of life can also change the state from physical to physical and vice versa, their physical bodies consist of the Universe, the second most durable substance yielding to strength only Absolute. The bodies of the girls are made up of Galaktum, this is the third material in the universe, but they can not go into a non-physical state, but they do not need consumption and habitat, they do not need adaptations to move around the universe, they do not need to communicate with similar ones need adaptations. There is also a form of life from the Planetarium, this form of life they created, from a very rare material that is currently missing in the universe, and its appearance is very rare. In turn, this form of life from the Planetarium created a different form of life for the Aryans, in their likeness, but from more accessible materials. Arias originated on the planet Aria. This planet Aria was in our solar system, between Mars and the Earth. Arias did not need a habitat, they only need to consume energy, star light, heat, cold. On Earth, Arius, Man was created, a new form of life different from all other forms of life that existed before Man. Man has the function of self-reproduction, childbirth, to create oneself without complicated manipulations. Neither these girls nor Arias could reproduce, although they always lived in pairs, and still live in pairs, they believe that they were created in pairs, in the image of those two first, these first were called Paradise and Aria, in honor of them and was the planet on which the first independent form of life the Man was born was named. Before the creation of man there were no bacteria, viruses, plants, all this was created in the likeness of man, from human cells. The arias created a human on the planet Aria, but a new form of life needed a very mild environment, this habitat was created on planet Earth. And the first samples of the human species were sent to Earth. Those first samples could not reproduce themselves, and were gigantic in size, compared to their creators, with the Aryans. But the creators of the Aryans did not stop to create only the Aryans, they created two more races, the Aryans and the Limurians, from the Aryans they differed only in skin color, hair, eyes, and emotions. The girls themselves in the strange room were not as emotional as people. People are the most emotional creatures in the universe, this is due to their developed Reason and a weak physical body.
