Where to start and how to give a conversation piquancy

It is important to understand that there is no one magic word acting like a magic key and opening all doors. There is a whole fine system here, understanding which will give the desired result.

1. Delicate actions. Men are often scared too overly determined ladies, so do not throw it with exciting phrases from the first minute of dating. This will frighten him for sure. Go to such a delicate topic should be gradually, after it became clear that the communication went wrong.

2. Location. It is extremely important to be interested in a man in principle. Look for common topics in the conversation, understand what can be interesting to him in principle.

3. If a person is completely unfamiliar and it is difficult to judge the general topics immediately, you can simply ask him to tell about himself, about his hobbies.

And only after the preliminary stage of communication is passed and it became clear that it is this man who is tempting to stand, then you can gradually move on to the appropriate speeches. In advance, to strengthen its location, you can apply and non-verbal methods: repeat poses, gestures, facial expressions, intonation. By the way, from the intonation with which this or that phrase is uttered, the process of seduction depends very strongly.
