This is the book of God. Does this seem contradictory to you?

”This is the book of God. Does this seem contradictory to you? Taking notes here and there, it was written through the greatest force in the universe in partnership with the seer and is a rereading of important biblical parts explaining the will of the creator which can be recognized through faith. As Jesus said, those who are from God recognize his words and have this book as a loving letter from a father wanting to find his children again.”

Short Biography: Aldivan Teixeira Torres, was born in Arcoverde- PE, created the series the seer, the series sons of the light, poetry and screenplays. His literary career started at the end of 2011 with the publication of his first romance work Opposing forces – the mystery of the cave. For whatever reason, he stopped writing only resuming his career in the second half of 2013. Since then he never stopped. He hopes that his writing will contribute to the Pernambuco and Brazilian culture, arousing the pleasure of reading in those that do not yet have the habit. His motto is “For literature, equality, fraternity, justice, dignity and the human being honour for ever”.

Dedication and thanks

I dedicate this book to all who earnestly seek knowledge. Certainly, the contemporary Testament will add much information to your luggage.

I thank my good God for the opportunity to once again express his teachings so that the whole world will know him. The father is truly wonderful.

Warning

My name is Yahweh, and I am the beginning, middle, and end of all things that exist. Through my word, the foundations and structures of the universe took form transforming what was only a dream into reality. My creative work never ceases for the essence of life is eternal.

The earth is one of the most beautiful planets with life in the universe. Similar to its Kalenquer firstborn where I created the angels, I placed in this beings with intelligence of determined degree with the objective of ordering the planet. These beings are called men and my image and likeness.

During the human era, I have always sent prophets on my behalf to warn, organize and lead my believers on the planet. However, for the most part, they have been rejected in this world where evil reigns.

This is my last attempt at reconciliation with humanity, that if I remain rebellious, I will suffer the consequences, shortening the time for the arrival of the apocalypse by two thirds.

Therefore, watch, pray and listen to my son who once again deigned to visit the earth. To him all honor, glory and adoration always, amen!

The family, the base of the whole society

Everyone comes from a man and a woman and they are welcomed into the bosom of a family. It has been so since the beginning of time. The importance of the family group is reflected in the personal life of each one. If we have a good family base with solidified values, we have a great chance to be good parents, children, brothers, co-workers, in short, to be real people.

How can the current family group be defined? A family is a group of people with related personalities and goals do not necessarily have to be of the same blood. They can be included in these groups, besides a heterosexual couple, homosexual couples, single parents with children, relatives in coexistence and even communities of friends. Family is all good and are the ones we can really count on in difficult times.

Children are a delicate part of the family. Adults should strive to create in them an affective bond in such a way that they obey it. Avoid bad influences for their children and protect them from violence and crime. they are perpetuated for life.

Creating bonds and strengthening existing ones with the people closest bring more happiness and security to the human being. Validate who is by your side for all life and overcome the differences for a pleasant coexistence. Be happy.

Blood and Heart Family: There are reported cases of family abuse and rejection. Often separation is inevitable and the human being discovers greater support among strangers. The family of heart, the one who accepts you as you are, should be valued as an inbred. Thank you if you find these angels on earth.

Role of family members: A family is a social group with defined rules among its members. Parents and eldest children have an obligation to provide for the support and guidance of minor children while they have to be obedient, helpful, and dedicated to studies. It is a mutual exchange. If there is a breach of this contract, things can be unsustainable.

The importance of a religious orientation: Since young people, children should be guided as existing religious matrices. The fact that parents are of a certain religion does not give them the right to impose their will on their children. Respect the autonomy and free will of these little beings is an essential exercise for a good relationship. Regardless of their decision, love will not change.

Values to be worshiped: humanity, fidelity, loyalty, sincerity, fear of God, love, wisdom, cooperation, unity, respect, dignity, fellowship, tolerance, freedom, evolution, courage, faith and hope.

Rules: Clean the house, wake up early, cook, wash dishes, clean the room, read a good book, greet others, behave at meals, ask permission to leave and enter environments, tell them when to leave, good music relaxing, work, do good, talk, give advice, guide, study, share objects of common use, welcome visits,

At work

Karamandu is a young marron who recently moved to São Paulo. Come from the interior of Bahia, more specifically from Porto Seguro, never thought that life in the main capital of the country was so dynamic. He rented an apartment about eighty kilometers from work because in the work-home route he would pick up three lines and count on the breaks he would lose four hours a day, going back and forth. When he arrived at work in a metallurgical company, he hardly had time to talk to his colleagues because of his complexity of functions and overworked. This routine cycle was also repeated in the vacant hours and on the weekends when he left home with his wife. In the capital and in the surroundings, life was very mechanical, which distanced people differently from their inner life.

The reason he had moved to the south-east of the country was the internal crisis of the labor market of his state. The fact of having little study also contributed to this. The only exit was to travel at the invitation of one of his cousins of São Paulo who facilitated the job placement.

Counting on his experience when he began to work, completing ten years, the adaptation to the new work was occurring naturally. The secret for him and for any profession is to be attentive to new trends, to know how to treat people from the upper and lower echelons, be punctual, be flexible, be responsible, gentle and polite, do not complain about overtime when necessary, work in a team spirit, have ambition and new ideas. Man is only dignified when he works and strives to make this world an environment It only tends to grow.

Life anywhere in the world is difficult but having the same warrior spirit of Karamandu, things can truly happen. What you cannot do is be afraid to risk or at least try. Even now living in a metropolis, he would never forget of his little piece of land in Bahia and his family that stayed there. Its origins give him pride.

Internally, he asks for everything to be right, to have his children, to grow old in the capital, but he has a project of when to retire to have a quiet life, leaving his probable children in the capital and returning to his northeast. to rest and enjoy life better. Well, we are rooting for your success and happiness in your projects.

Work Tips: Relationship with bosses: Treat your boss always with respect, attention and listen to your advice. Having him as an ally is key to your future in the company. At the time of the scolding, try to control yourself and do not want to be the master of If you cannot stand the criticism, you have to rethink your plans and if you want to be an employee.

Never miss meetings and work commitments other than with a serious justification. Remember the importance of working at being your source of income, perhaps for a lifetime.

Do not rely too much on workmates as you will be disappointed. Do not give your friendship to anyone, know how to separate things. Friends you do in life and at work you usually meet only colleagues.

Be careful with the shopkeepers because they will not think twice about handing you over to the boss for some banal reason. This type of person only wants to earn points with the superiors at his expense and does not deserve any kind of consideration. Ignore them and stay away from them.

Learn to recognize your role in the company. The employee has to live up to his salary by dedicating himself to his working hours integrally in his functions. Seek not to access the internet, social networks, cell phone, frequent visits of relatives, known cause of distraction and depending on the severity of dismissal.

In the sacred moment of vacation, forget your obligation completely. Travel, read a lot, go out with friends, pay more attention to children and your wife, get a cinema, a theater, a football game or any other sport, anyway, it is distracted enough because it is his right. On his return, he will be with renewed strength.

Always have a good network of contacts. In case of unemployment, you have who to turn to.

Get closer to your family and have a good relationship with them. They are the ones you can really count on in tight times.

"A friend in the square is worth more than money in the box." This wise saying guides us to always stay with those who have affinity. Value the friendly hands that always welcome you.

At work, just leave early with justification. Do not want to take advantage of your boss's goodwill to work fewer hours. Check your pay, personal investment, and trust that have deposited in you.

Never get to work drunk or drugged. Also, do not use these things. Believe that maintaining a healthy life is best for yourself.

Whenever possible, attend fellowship events with co-workers. It is a way of strengthening relationships by knowing each other better.

In the end, do in such a way that the work is a pleasurable activity and that makes you grow as a professional and as a person. Galgue the steps of the hierarchy little by little. To you, worker, my respect. We make this country the country of the present and of the future.

Other Topics

1) Love: All that exists and that which comes into existence comes from the infinite love of Yahweh. He adjusted the structures of the universe so that all his creatures were the reflection of him uniting with each other through this feeling. Love is without doubt the most powerful force that exists to create worlds, caress the soul and perform miracles. An example of this were all the forces of good sent to the evolving universes with the intention of transforming relations. In the known example of the earth, we see the figure of Jesus, the good shepherd who gives everything for his servants and the examples of the mothers, mirrors of Mary of Nazareth, unequalled love with his children. This is spiritual love.

Carnal love is what happens between a man and a woman for example. There is still the full love, carnal and spiritual, and those who experience it are in a higher degree spiritually speaking. They are called the son of Yahweh. We also have the passion and partnership which also produce a strong feeling. Regardless of the way, love is very beautiful and happy those who experience it. Dried people of love do not bear fruits and their destiny is not good. Soon, love without reservations.

1.1) Everything is forgiven to those who loved much: "One of the Pharisees invited him to dine with him. Jesus, entering the Pharisee's house, took his place at the table. There was a woman in the city who was a sinner; she, knowing that he was dining in the house of the Pharisee, brought an alabaster vessel with perfume, and wept at her feet, and began to water them with tears, and wiped them with the hair of her head, and kissed her feet and anointed them with the perfume. When the Pharisee who had invited him saw this, he said to himself, "If this man were a prophet, he would know who touched him and what sort of woman he is, for he is a sinner. Jesus said to the Pharisee, Simon, I have something to tell you. He said, "Say it, Master. One creditor had two debtors: one owed him five hundred denarii, and the other fifty. Having neither of the two to pay, he forgave the debt to both. Which of them, therefore, will love you the most? And Simon said, I suppose that he whom he forgave most. And he said unto him, thou hast thought well. Turning to the woman, he said to Simon, "Do you see this woman? I came into your house, and you did not give me water for my feet; But she bathed my feet with tears and wiped them with her hair. You did not give me a kiss; but she has not ceased to kiss my feet since I came in. You did not anoint my head with oil, but this one anointed my feet with perfume. Wherefore I say unto you, her sins are forgiven her, which are many, because she loved much. but he whom little is forgiven, loves little. He said to the woman, "Your sins are forgiven." Those who were with him at the table began to say to themselves, who is this one who even forgives sins? But Jesus said to the woman, "Your faith has saved you; go in peace."

(Luke 7, 36-50)

This parable of Jesus reflects well the human reality. All but the children of God are sinners and must account for their failures to the creator. Even though human sin is scarlet, there is the possibility of divine forgiveness and mercy. Is it possible? Jesus gives the example of the dedicated woman who does not spare her efforts to please him. So, it will also be in the judgment. Those who in life recognize themselves sinners and strive through acts, words and works for a reconciliation will be released of his debts. Because much is forgiven to those who really loved.

1.2) Love as renunciation and suffering: In a relationship between friends, family, God and humanity, and between two partners (a), it is very easy to say that one loves. Many do not even know the strength of what they really say. He truly cares, dedicates himself, accompanies, guides, knows how to demonstrate what he feels at the right moments, suffers for the other and even renounces his own self-esteem by withdrawing definitively for the good of the person. This renunciation of the other is the most painful to be done, but really necessary in certain cases. Examples are the surrender of Jesus on the cross for all of us, the renunciations of the parents to a rebellious son, a separation between a couple. On these occasions, distance and time teach enough and solidify the feeling or fall asleep. However, it will always exist, being true. Loving with delivery demonstrate how much you love each other.

1.3) Love demonstrated through actions: Well says the saying that good intentions, hell is full. This applies exactly to love, which must be demonstrated in attitudes. Give advice, help financially, be gentleman, embrace, keeping secrets, sharing their goods, cooperating for good, protecting others and surrendering to others are some examples of this. We must prove our sentiment so that it is full of mutual trust, partnership and loyalty.

1.4) Do not give up on love in the face of a deception: At any moment, in this world, our feelings are put to the test. Often, the other does not correspond to the expectations that we create around him (a) for the love when it is strong in us makes blind. With the coexistence is that the defects of the other are appearing and putting a shovel of sand in our plans. Then comes a time when it is no longer possible to continue with the relationship often generating a serious trauma. The injured person discredits the love and lose faith in other people. At this time, very calm, is not yet the end. There are several reasons to continue living and try to seek happiness. First, no one is equal to anyone. Who knows not find someone cool (Not perfect) with whom I can share good moments. This is rare these days but it is not impossible. Second, happiness has to come from the inside out. A person with values, a belief, a good family base and an occupation is fully capacity. The other will be just an extension of your own fortune. A complement so to speak. When we take the intrinsic decision to be happy the universe conspires for this. Always remember: "Whatever happens, never give up on yourself. "

1.5) Love as a pretext to circumvent rules: Most people have gone through situations where the other uses love as an argument to perform certain actions. For example, in a crisis of jealousy beating, beat or even kill a rival, to deceive to be accepted, to steal to appear rich, to impede the freedom of the other, to persecute to the end of a relationship, to inspect and always make question of its presence. This type of feeling can be called anything less of love, it can be believed. Second 1 Corinthians 13, love is patient, helpful, is not envious, is not proud, is not arrogant. Does not do anything inconvenient, does not seek their own interests, does not get angry, does not hold grudges. rejoices with the truth. Every excuse, everything believes, everything hopes, everything supports. Love will never end.

1.6) Secret love: Have you ever thought about how many people you have met in your life? Many do not? We have social relationships in the family, at work, in our neighborhood, and even in our neighboring cities and towns. We call this type of relationship constant and lasting. other social relations: Meeting with people on the road, virtual friendship on the internet, cellular, etcetera. We call this relationship virtual. In both cases, we arouse in others several interesting feelings between them, who knows a platonic love. We know, we are protected continually by these human angels who continually help us. In this case, secret love is as healthy as an open and in discovering it we can experience a unique sense of bliss. Bless those who love and are loved because it is their heaven.

1.7) The steps to reach full love: First, when we meet a person, what catches our attention is the aesthetic or commonly called physical attraction. At this moment, little is known about the other in relationships to taste and values. Those who believe in love at first sight are romantic and idealistic because of my experience, it is not possible to love someone at first. After awakening our interest, we begin to investigate our target little by little: With whom he lives, where he works, is married or single, customs and if we have the opportunity to have an approximation we talk and if we perceive that the interest is mutual exchanges contacts. From that arise new meetings and a conversation with two. In this step, there is a greater contact between the couple where we know deeply the defects and the qualities of the other. If the mutual interest persists the relationship evolves to an engagement or maybe even a lasting marriage. Then yes when one has two or three years of coexistence and we already have enough intimacy with the person we can say if we love or not with more firmness and certainty. One can evolve this feeling even more and will become a full love.

1.8) Implications of love: Love is a deep and amazing feeling. It comes from the depths of our soul and comes out in the natural environment. Love can be seen as an act of courage, faith and hope., neither when nor where. It simply happens. To these blessed creatures, able to feel and understand this sublime feeling, several questions are implied: First, one cannot expect reciprocity or the same intensity in the other, understand that each one it is a world and with distinct perceptions of its. Second, love is like a plant, it has to be cultivated every day so it can bear fruit and not die. Who loves, cares. Distance can help in some bad times when each one you have the opportunity to think about yourself and your relationship. When you remember the good times, it is because the feeling is true. Third, prepare to have difficulties of coexistence and do not expect to agree or to combine everything with your partner). To love does not mean the flap If you do not have excessive jealousy, let your partner have the freedom to be an autonomous person. Practice the exercise of trust and if you are betrayed it is time to rethink the relationship and if you are the right person. Fifth, keep the dialogue constant and respect. Without these, love is bound to end. Lastly, live this moment as unique and as if there was no other. Live the present without prejudices having only open senses to the loved person. Very worth it.

1.9) What are we capable of the loved one?

I have lived love intensely at least that reminds me of three times. A true love, pure, immaculate. These three people who woke me up this I thank immensely. In loving, I felt complete, joyful, transcended the space-time limits Somehow, these human beings knew what I felt and renounced physical contact. Even so, love did not become less, at least on my part. What would I do for them? I would give my body and soul to save them if they were in danger, I would be the fine breeze in times of heat, I would be their shield against human wickedness and perversity, I would be the one who would stretch out my hand to help with financial, family, and relationship problems; I would share his good and bad moments if I were accepted, I would comb his hair, cut his nails, give him a kiss and a hug when I woke up, I would sleep close to his chest, I would understand if my moments of bad humor, I would accept their defects and qualities, would give me completely in the moment of sex. This is true love and not what many think it is.

1.10) Conclusion about love

Thus, saith the Lord of spirits, the Almighty: Take advantage of every moment of your life to do good by perpetuating love, for you do not yet know how long there is to live on earth. How many times have you refused to go near that special person, embrace her, kiss her and say that you love her? If you have not done it until now, decide yourself. Forget prejudice, fear and risk. You will lose nothing in trying, otherwise you will gain experience.

The sense of creation is that you love one another without reservations, those who do this are truly my children. For my part, you will have my blessing and protection at all times in life. Be more human.

Seeking dignity and honesty

We are thinking beings and ready to evolve infinitely. Even if the current reality is catastrophic: inversion of values, violence, lack of security, lack of respect within the family and in society in general, with a growing prejudice and an evil that has no name, my father and I still believe in the human being.

I will wait until the end for a reconciliation with the humanity that I myself created when I was a part of God in ancient times. From the beginning, I already knew the consequences of the creation but in no time, I repented. My name is love, charity, and kindness, and I wanted to share my happiness with other beings. Free will was my best choice because it enabled angels and human beings to walk with their own legs. To believers and believers, I destine happiness and fools, I do not do this for excessive justice or rigidity. I do it by plant-harvest logic.

"Though the leaves and the trees fall, I will always exist, for my name is eternal."

The faith and uncertainty of tomorrow

The modern world is very dynamic: What a thing is today may cease to be in the future continually. These very common twists of life sometimes have simply unexpected consequences such as a financial situation, the reconciliation of a love, the loss of a loved one, illnesses, limitations, prizes, good and bad experiences, separations, betrayals, declarations and happiness achieved.

Throughout this short journey that is our life the most important of all is to never stop fighting, to persist or to have faith. What is to be ours will come by deserving and nothing can take away this right. We will not have more or less than the well-deserved and the just. Never want to be mirrored in anyone because each one has its own history.

My life is a great example of everything I said before. Being of poor origin, I always had to take extra effort in my battles. The road proved complicated. What moved me was an unknown inner force that encouraged me to continue trying to tread the paths of success. The culmination of this was to pass a federal contest and resume a forgotten literature two years ago.

I am not yet fully realized. But everything is heading for an ever greater and more solid success. Live the persistence and my belief in the living God, with him the impossible can become possible.

Tolerance to the specificities of the other

I, my father and my brothers and sisters of goodness are superior beings. Consequently, we act differently from the human fragile human mind. The first thing that distinguishes us is love without measure to human creation. Regardless of people's sin, we never abandon them in no situation. Many of them only remember that we exist in times of distress and distress and do not value the bread and graces we pour out day after day in their lives. How ungrateful of them.

In counterpoint to this, we are able to forget this to a minimum spark of hope of reconciliation. We want everyone to be saved. However, the reality is that few achieve this. Today, violence, evil, envy is commonplace today., people deceiving others in social networks and chats, betrayal, success at all costs, lack of principles, corruption in general, theft, disillusionment, attachment to material and lack of commitment. All these factors put the human soul in tatters and thrown into a bottomless abyss. Even the greatest faith cannot reverse this state.

Other things that distinguish us are our power, kindness, forgiveness, mercy and especially our respect for the other. Every human being is worthy of consideration regardless of age, creed, ethnicity, color, financial position, sexual choice, political or sports. that we measure is your heart, the purity of your acts, values and beliefs. Even if we disagree with some human positions, this is not cause for exclusion or dislike on our part. On the contrary, we come closer to win that soul.

We are God and this is not comparable to any living being. They believe more in my name and in my father's.

The struggle for unity among peoples

Since we created the world, my father and I have a dream: To unite humanity in such a way that all go hand in hand in an atmosphere of cooperation and worship of things of good. In the present situation, this is quite utopian, since many times, even a small family unit is destroyed and filled with disagreements.

By human nature, people argue, have opposing opinions, find themselves the owners of reason, do not want to give up and do not recognize the primacy of God. As Yahweh, I promise those who give their life to me a complete change of spirit in such a way that she will not be the same. She will have a lofty and generous soul.

I also promise my followers a full realization on earth and in the afterlife. In the kingdom that is to come prepared by my father, they will have access to bread and honey in such a way that they will not thirst or hunger. On this day, every knee will bow and sing glory to the little sertanejo who will conquer the world.

My homage to all who directly or indirectly contributed in this world to a change of values. I will follow this path with the peace and glory of God. So be it!

The challenge of living in a world of evil and lies

The earth is still an evolving planet commonly called the world of atonement and evidence in the spiritist vision. It is notorious for the inferiority of people who seek their own ends as means of pleasure.

We often face risks, deceptions, betrayals, selfishness, lack of love and violence. Evil reigns in this world making the chosen ones for my realm of victims. What to do before this naked reality?

In proving the poison, we must offer the antidote to these situations. Our greatest strength is unmeasured love, our faith in my father and in me, our singular attitude towards life. We must be the exception of exceptions, spreading the good wherever you go and at all costs because whoever wants to preserve your life will lose it and whoever loses it for my name's sake will find it.

The man of Yahweh is easily noticed in the crowd by his attitudes. He has an optimistic vision of the future, is willing to listen to the other and help him in the best way possible. He also has a commitment to the mission taking the creator's word to the poor in spirit. By his action, he will have happiness and eternal rest in my kingdom. Remember that we only have access to it by deserving it, it takes for humans more donation and detachment.

Urban and rural violence

We live in a dangerous environment of curses and unscrupulous people. Few people we can really trust. How to act in the current reality? We should have few lasting relationships, a rarity.

Of the other people, try to maintain a respectable distance. In no case, go out with strangers because we do not know what we can find. Today, murder, rape and kidnapping are very common. Watch out for the power of communication from social networks and do not fall into traps.

In the city and in the country, crime has been growing exponentially and there is no one completely safe from it. When leaving, try not to attract attention with branded clothing or luxury cars. Be simple and prudent as doves. At home, take preventive measures necessary to prevent theft. Only receive relatives or acquaintances.

Moreover, above all, try to have a focus on religious life. With the strength of faith, you can achieve miracles and deliverances. I will teach you a prayer to be read at night, those who pray in faith I promise that there is no evil You should pray thus: "Lord Yahweh, I ask for your protection in its entirety. Protect me in the ways, in the journeys, of robberies, of kidnappings, of evil spirits, of snakes and spiritual beasts, of satanic and of the black magic. May the gates of hell not come near, do not prevail nor defeat me. Finally, by your blood and your cross, protect me from all kinds of evil.”

Who am I?

1-How was your story up to the path of letters?

My dream in literature started very young, in my adolescence. The Possidônio Tenório de Brito foundation opened a good library in my community and sharing my time in school, work in the fields and reading spent my days. I've lost the account of how many collections of books I devoured in this era. Being reader was even a cheap but I wanted more. I grew up in this world of dreams with health. Already in adulthood in 2006 when a relatively serious health problem weakened me to point I felt incapable of literature was a way of escape so that I could gradually free myself from my inner demons. At that time, I wrote a small book on some scratch sheets. At that time, it was unthinkable for me to have a computer because of the was not my moment. I saved my drafts for a later date. In 2007, I began typing my book at work intervals by saving it on the floppy. I was so diskette burned. I started the degree course in Mathematics and once again I left my dream aside. I finished higher education in 2010 and the following year I bought my first notebook. At that time, I had already written my first novel and prioritized its typing. I launched it this year. I will fulfill my dream of being a published author even though my financial situation was still catastrophic. I will again with my dream. At the moment that I no longer expected, I went on a public contest and I resumed literature at the end of 2013. I wrote I write everything: Romances, poetry, religious, self-help, wisdom, short stories, etcetera, and many other books and I launched others. Through the Babelcube website, I am already published in the Portuguese, Italian, English, French and Spanish languages. Just to feel the pleasure that readers of other countries read my writings was already worth all my effort. My goal in literature goes beyond money, as income I have my job. It is sharing concepts, transforming and creating new worlds, is to touch people and make them more humane in a culture of peace. It is to believe that even facing the normal toil, problems that everyone has I can dream of better days. Literature has transformed me completely and everyone around me. I owe everything to my Great God who always supports me. I will continue my journey with faith in the heart and immortalizing this gift of God forever. For this, my readers, never give up of your dreams. You are capable!

2-What values have you learned from your biological and spiritual parents and which you carry as a banner, spreading them around the world?

A. In summary, there are thirty commandments for those who seek to enter into the kingdom of my father.

- 1) To love God above all things, himself and others.
- 2) Not having earthly or heavenly idols, Yahweh is the only one worthy of worship.
- 3) Not to utter the holy name of God in vain or to tempt it; Nor to torment those who have already called upon them.

- 4) Book at least one day of the week for the rest, preferably on Saturday.
- 5) Honor father, mother and family.
- 6) Do not kill, do not hurt the neighbor physically or verbally.
- 7) Do not adulterate, do not practice pedophilia, bestiality, incest and other sexual perversions.
- 8) Do not steal, do not cheat in the game or in life.
- 9) Do not give false testimony, slander, defamation, do not lie.
- 10) Do not covet or envy the assets of others. Work to achieve your own goals.
- 11) Be simple and humble.
- 12) Practice honesty, dignity and loyalty.
- 13) In family, social and work relations always be responsible, efficient and assiduous.
- 14) Avoid violent sports and gambling addiction.
- 15) Do not consume any type of drug:
- 16) Do not take advantage of your position to pour your frustration on the other. Respect the subordinate and the superior in their relationships.
- 17) Do not be prejudiced with anyone, accept the different and be more tolerant.
- 18) Do not judge and you will not be judged.
- 19) Do not be a gossip and give more value to a friendship because if you act so people will move away from you.
- 20) Do not desire the evil of the neighbor or want to do justice with your own hands. There are the proper organs for this.

21) Do not look for the devil to consult the future or do work against the next. Remember that for everything there is a price.

22) Learn to forgive, for whoever does not forgive others does not deserve God's forgiveness.

23) Practice charity because it redeems sins.

24) Help or comfort the sick and desperate.

25) Pray daily for you, your family, and others.

26) Remain with faith and hope in Yahweh regardless of the situation.

27) Divide your time between work, leisure, and family proportionately.

28) Work to be worthy of success and happiness.

29) Do not want to be a God going beyond your limits.

30) Always practice justice and mercy.

In these commandments abide my love, my grace and that of my father.

3) What are your tastes?

A: Friendship, cooperation, solidarity, dignity, faith, love, understanding, forgiveness and tolerance.

4-What does literature represent for you?

R-Literature is my way of expressing my ideas to the world. As I said before, it arose at a difficult time in my life being used as an escape valve. Today, I can say that literature has saved me.

5-Where did the idea of the "Seer" come from?

In 2007, I had written my first book and had been rejected by the publisher. It was my first big failure. Desperate, I was trying to figure out which way to go when the forces of light acted and revealed my future. was going to be "The Seer", the most respected guy in literature. Nothing made sense at that moment. Years later, with the development of my gift and the writing of novels, the seer nickname took and gave name to my series. I'm also known as Divine or son of God.

6-What does each book represent for you as the author?

I am very happy and consider myself to be a being inspired by the divine forces. Each line I write is important in this process of maturing and communion with the force of good. Absolutely nothing is by chance. All my books are my sons and daughters. Yahweh.

7-How is your routine? Can you always write?

R- I am a very busy man. I have my job with which I support my family, social commitments, travel, home and etcetera. Not always gives to keep regularity in writing but whenever I can write. I love literature. It is a mission to me.

8-What does your family say? Do they support you?

A- This is a painful point in my life. My family always makes negative comments about the writer's profession and about my dream. Over time, they have not intruded any more. Well, if you want to be a writer, the greatest motivation has that come from within you, especially in a country where culture is given little value.

9-What are your upcoming goals?

A- Continue to write and transform concepts, live a little more life, increase my circle of friends and be happy in fullness.

10-Do you have any messages to leave to people?

R-I would like to invite everyone to accompany my work and would like to ask you to fill your soul with a good culture, be it cinema, literature, leisure, conversations. Let's increase our range of options. A loving embrace to all.

This is a bit of me. I want to spread this so that people become closer to my heart despite the distance. I am not a scam, I am authentic, human and original. Continue reading my books and you will discover my soul every time more.

The experience of pain

We are human and we are always subject to the occurrences of life. During our existence we will live pleasant and bad experiences. Of these, certainly the most striking are those that bring pain and traumas.

The reason for the pain can be diverse. Among the main reasons, the pain of the betrayal of a loved one, the loss of a family entity, a serious illness, unemployment, failure and pain of rejection.

I have tried some types of these pains: I have lost close relatives, I live with a genetic disease and I have already been rejected. Each of these events causes a different and very painful sensation.

It is hard to see that we will not talk to that person any more, we will not embrace or kiss him, we will not divide more victories. What comforts is the promise of the coming kingdom where the sister souls meet again. Yes, we live the promise guaranteed by my father of an eternal life full of happiness crowning our efforts in life.

The experience of the sickness that struck me harder when I was twenty-three threw me into a bottomless chasm. The friends went away, the prospects of work were exhausted, the dark night of the soul arose with great force. The support who regenerated me and raised me was from my spiritual father and my family.

Without them, I do not even know what would become of me today. I was resurrected, I regained consciousness and my life became. Today, I can say that I am ready to the success.

Another remarkable experience was when fate allowed me to enter the lives of some people. Five beings that aroused me passion, attraction, seduction and love. My reaction to such a strong force was to escape, to discover, to live a secret passion and to risk. This last attitude of mine provoked a rejection whose wounds were difficult to heal. It took two years of internal recollection to finally free myself and seek new directions. Despite the painful effects, I do not regret my attitude, at least I tried to be happy. I regret it when I ran away, who knows, who would not be the person in my life? Well, I'll never really know.

In all these examples described, my greatest ally was time. Everything in life passes and time is wise. The process of regret is necessary but there comes a time when you have to let the suffering go by and live your life. front is the best decision you can make.

The highlights of my life

My name is Aldivan Teixeira Tôrres, civil servant, writer in the modalities of poetry, prose and a lover of life. At this moment, I have thirty-two years already having lived intense experiences. The most striking were love, travel, family, friends, work and studies.

Love has made me more human and I thank each one of the people who have awakened good feelings in me. With each one I discovered a little more of the divine essence because God is love.

The few trips I did made me discover more about the planet earth. Recife, Catimbau-Buique, Piranhas-Alagoas, Monteiro-Paraíba, Salvador-Bahia are some examples of unforgettable places.

Literature is my own life. With it, I can express what I feel and conquer hearts throughout the world. Through it, I will immortalize my name. I will never die; my words will continue in the world after my departure.

The biological family that welcomed me was responsible for taking care of me when I needed it most. They are people who live daily and know how special I am. Friends are walking companions and represent a lot in my life.

The studies provided me with my current position at work, access to culture, achievement of dreams and knowledge. It was worth my efforts throughout my life.

I hope to have many more experiences that fill my being of success and happiness. Life is to be lived.

Living the right ethics

There is a certain saying that says: "The ends justify the means." I do not agree with him because much more important than success is to have a clean conscience. I would never cheat on my own, I prefer to keep with me the decency and values I learned from my spiritual father: Honesty, loyalty, dignity, simplicity and truth. My father expects you to act in the same way with your fellow men.

What good is man gaining the world and losing his soul? It does not matter how much power you have conquered in life. For me and the creator, your actions will be judged and heavy on the scale. If it hangs on our side, we can reflect on the best way for your soul. Always remember that the way is narrow while the door of doom is wide. Always act in favor of your neighbor by practicing good.

Simple Attitudes Can Be Key to Your Life: Helping a handicapped person cross a street, leaving his or her seat for a senior on a crowded bus, sheltering and comforting patients in the hospital, helping a friend in need, valuing and supporting the family, avoiding verbal assaults, practicing charity, understanding and solidarity. If you do all this, you are among my children and your reward will be fair.

"Paint your street and your village and conquer the world."

Theft

We live in a world where stealing and stealing has become commonplace. It is to rob us of material goods, our artistic set, our affections and our own personality. What cannot rob us is our kindness, intelligence and charitable works.

Jesus said that the best thing to be human is to gather up treasures in heaven, where rust and moth do not corrode and thieves do not steal. There we have the protection of the true God, strong, omnipotent, omniscient and omnipresent. and prefer the value of eternal things.

If you fall into sin, repent and do not repeat the unlawful act. Our Lord will be willing to forgive you. Your past no longer matters but what you can do in the future. Let us have more faith.

Are you disillusioned?

Life on earth has never been so difficult as it is today. We live in a society with intense pressure on our attitudes. We often wonder why all this and we reach despair. Sometimes the situation is so serious that many give up their own lives.

I want through these words to touch the heart of each person in this author-reader connection. The situation is bad? Regardless of this, never give up on yourself. The crux of the matter is to evaluate your strategy, identify flaws and weaknesses, seek and implement solutions.

When you analyze the situation, you will find that everything has a way, it is only to use the right elements. The vagueness of life is what makes it beautiful and challenging. Apart from death, everything, absolutely everything, can be changed. So, use your persistence and faith to become a winner.

"When everyone says no to you, when it seems that all is lost and darkness surrounds you, at this moment remember: God is with you preparing a spacious, broad and clear path, something better than everything you have imagined for your life."

Materialism versus Kingdom of God

We are living a unique moment in humanity. From the twentieth century extending to the present one is known that the humanity has advanced in several aspects, especially in the scientific-technological and cultural area. In contrast, there is a deterioration in the familiar, social and religious

We are capable of flying, of communicating over long distances, of combating incurable diseases, but most are unable to value family, friends, gratitude, respect, prefer to enter a competition environment in search of money, fame, power, social status to the detriment of oneself and the other.

Nowadays, it is common the disobedience of the child to the parents, the verbal and physical aggressions, the exacerbated freedom of the young people who even before the age of majority invade the social networks subjecting themselves to dangers unquestionable. Before we had a rigid patriarchal education, now the education has become impossible. The consequences of this modernity are in the increase of delinquency, in the family tragedies, in the separation of parents and children.

In addition, society and its false moralism compel people to live a character to fit into the accepted biotype. Examples are homosexuals not assumed, women and their marriages often front, Indians and blacks who once have escaped intolerance of religious syncretism.

All this exposed, we can conclude that in order to enter the Kingdom of God, it is necessary to deny what is in the world, materialism, and to integrate the mission that Yahweh has left us. It is necessary to show love, competence, honesty, sincerity and charity in all the senses towards the next. People thus have a reserved place in the spiritual world, my father's house.

The duality

Since the beginning of time, we have lived a dualistic phase. On the one hand we have the forces of good represented in their highest hierarchical rank by Yahweh and his sons and on the other, Satan and his angels. Our dimensional reality reflects this reality with people divided on both sides. But it is not in an absolute way. Even good people commit evil and bad ones sometimes also do good deeds.

Yahweh God allowed to be of this form in consequence of his great love with the creatures. Duality was a price to pay for the freedom granted. From the revolt of Lucifer to the apocalypse, everything is premeditated with coordination of the living God since not a leaf of the trees falls without your consent.

By making an analogy, we are actors on the big stage whose invisible writer is Yahweh. God infuses creatures with the right mood for good things to happen. However, we cannot use this argument to justify our mistakes because in evil it is not found.

I invite my brothers to walk the path of goodness and the key elements for this is the following of the thirty commandments already quoted. My father wants everyone to be saved and only awaits your response to act and transform your life.

Human mercy and God's mercy

There are human and inhuman men. The latter have their hearts so petrified that they are insensitive to the calamitous situations of life. They are creatures punishable by being on a lower scale. The former are open people and with the necessary sensitivity to help and forgive they are the ones chosen by the father.

Although they are good, human men cannot be compared to the father and the children. With infinite goodness and an intense capacity to love, the divine have an unfathomable mercy.

As much as a man sinks into a mire of sins, salvation is possible in the eyes of God. Just a confident delivery and a sincere attitude of change on the part of the sinner. In doing so, the doors will be opened and then the world will experience true love of Father.

What does God represent in your life?

I propose a collective reflection on the role of God in our lives. How much does your presence matter in our day to day? For me, God is everything. He is present in my words, in my gift, in my breathing, in the beating of my heart, in my work, in the family environment, in my smile, in my charities, in my love for my neighbor, in my understanding and in my forgiveness of the other.

The holy God also manifests in my soul and in my mind infusing me with wisdom and leading me to a sea of success and delights. He is also ready to act in his life. But what you see are selfish people, malicious, lying, attached to material and power. They prefer to be prominent among men to a reconciliation with their father.

Many people do not even remember God in peace and bonanza. Prefer to give human credit to their achievements although the true merit comes from the father because he created everything that exists. Change of life. Make your attitude a way of approaching with the father of so that he and you are one. That's what Jesus did two millennia ago.

This approach will bear fruit in your life making you a better and more accomplished being. Believe me, there is no happiness beyond that with your father.

The question of invoking the dead

"I am Yahweh, I created the whole universe by my great love, kindness and generosity. I also created the time to regulate the activities of created things. Specifically, mankind must rest in the afterlife since it has finished its work under the sun. I do not allow disturbance of my dead to consult the future, witchcraft, games of chance or any other activity. Who does this without justification will be definitively excluded from my kingdom.
